

PRICES MAY VARY ON APPLICATION. LOOK INTO YOUR LOCAL COUNCIL REGULATIONS AND REQUIREMENTS BEFORE STARTING ANY RENOVATION WORK.

bedroom bliss

Create your own luxe Japanese-inspired haven with our guide to the key elements in this sleeping zone

WORDS LYNNE TESTONI STYLING JENN HILLER PHOTOGRAPHY ROBERT FRITH/ACORN PHOTO

1 Floating bedside tables Architect Suzanne Hunt (suzannehuntarchitect.com.au) designed these bedside tables made from E veneer timber veneer in EvenRavenna. Constructed by Mark Drage of Drage Furniture, the tables appear to float on the headboard. While these units were custom-made as part of the veneer wall behind, you can get a similar item, for $750 each, from Drage Furniture, dragefurniture.com.

2 Pendant lights Suzanne and the owners searched long and hard for the right lighting solution for this space, finding these elegant pendant lights in a design magazine. Toss B 'Sphere T' pendant light with a black exterior and white interior, $260 each, Hub Furniture Lighting Living, hubfurniture.com.au.

3 Veneer wall This timber veneer panel doubles as a headboard and a room divider, separating the master bedroom from an ensuite and walk-in robe on the other side. Made by Drage Furniture, a similar unit encompassing floor-to-ceiling cabinetry on the other side would cost from $18,000, made from E veneer's EssentialEspresso veneer, dragefurniture.com.

4 Teak and glass door This shoji-style sliding door was designed by architect Suzanne in collaboration with the client, so that it becomes a piece of art when open. This door was built by Abbott'Solutely Timber. For a similar door in generic timber and glass, expect to pay $3000, plus installation and glazing, abbottsolutelytimber.com.au.

5 Bulkhead Builders Gransden Construction added a bulkhead over the bed to give scale to the room and allow the space to feel like a canopy on a four-poster bed. Framed in timber, clad in plasterboard and then painted white, it provides balance to the timber that continues from outside. It cost about $6147, gransden.com.au.

6 Bi-fold doors Environmentally certified teak was used on all external doors and windows for its durability, warmth and texture. The door framing conceals elements such as beams, flyscreen tracks and glare blinds. For similar bi-fold doors in generic timber, expect to pay $1848 per door for a three-door configuration plus glazing and installation, abbottsolutelytimber.com.au.

7 Ottoman Balance strong architectural details in a room with a touch of luxe in the style accessories. This ottoman in Mystere Gold is by Terrace, $1140, topped with a Spacecraft metallic round cushion, $259, both from Empire Homewares, worldofempire.com.

8 Retractable flyscreens To allow the owners of the house to enjoy fresh air and cool breezes without being annoyed by insects, the bi-fold doors are fitted with Centor SIE Eco-Screens insect screens. These retractable flyscreens can be powdercoated to match bi-fold and sliding doors and cost about $4650, plus installation. Visit centor.com for details.

9 Bed base Simplicity is the key here, with the 'Tatlin Sommier' bedbase by Minotti. The homeowners chose this dark brown fabric to complement the custom-made joinery behind. Prices for a similar bed start at $8162, excluding mattress, from Dedece, dedece.com.

10 Wool and silk rug The client chose this rug to anchor the decorating scheme in the room. Inspired by a 19th-century handcrafted silk kimono, the natural wool and black silk rug was handwoven by Tibetan weavers in Nepal. Purchased in 2008, it cost about $12,000 from Behruz Studio. For similar rugs, visit behruzstudio.com for details.

The Bedfordale House by Suzanne Hunt Architect is an award winner in the Australian Institute of Architects WA Architect Awards.

the tally

Bedside tables	$1500
Pendant lights	$520
Veneer wall	$18,000
Sliding door	$3000
Plasterboard bulkhead	$6147
Bi-fold doors	$5040
Ottoman and cushion	$1390
Flyscreens	$4650
Bed base	$8162
Wool and silk rug	$12,000
TOTAL	$60,922*